Where do you want the assets of your estate to pass? In the following, if you name a person (for example, your spouse), follow up with what happens if that person predeceases you, with or without surviving issue (children, grandchildren). A typical listing might have spouse first, then issue (your children, and if a child is predeceased, the grandchildren through that child taking that share), followed by some other relations or friends who would take if your spouse and your descendants had all predeceased you. The final choice should be one or more charities. If you have any questions on this, please call.
